

ARE THERE STAIRS TO ACCESS THE UPPER FLOORS AT THE WHITE TULIP HOSTEL AMSTERDAM?

Yes, The White Tulip Hostel has stairs that guests use to access the upper floors. Given the typical architecture of buildings in Amsterdam, especially in older areas like the Wallen where the hostel is located, elevators are often not available, and our hostel is no exception. If you have heavy luggage or mobility concerns, please let us know at the time of booking or upon arrival. Our staff is always ready to assist you with your luggage and make your stay as comfortable as possible. We aim to ensure that all our guests have a pleasant experience at our hostel. Staying at The White Tulip Hostel: Everything You Need to Know Architecture and Accessibility The architecture of Amsterdam is renowned for its historic charm, narrow staircases, and unique layouts. The White Tulip Hostel epitomizes this classic style. Situated in the Wallen district, known for its vibrant Red-Light District and close proximity to iconic spots like the Dam Square and Anne Frank House, you'll find the building's traditional design both charming and practical. Stair Access Our hostel does not have an elevator, which is a common feature (or lack thereof) in many Amsterdam properties. The stairs are used to access all upper floors, including rooms and shared facilities. . .
